St. Peter Indian Mission Catholic School Proposal

The need:

St. Peter Indian Mission School strives to educate the whole child: mind, body and spirit. Situated in Bapchule, St Peter's has been serving the Gila River Indian Community for over 100 years and is a safe haven for students. The school has been run by the Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity for 90 years and is also overseen by the Franciscan Friars of the Holy Spirit who teach, lead the youth group, and provide opportunities to receive the sacraments.

St. Peter's believes that the fundamental O'odham Himdag of respect, reverence, and responsibility, and the Gospel message of God's faithful, forgiving love, provide a stable, challenging, and academic environment that will foster self-discipline, academic success, cultural pride, strong faith in God, loyalty to country, service to community, and fitness for life.

High school is a pivotal time for students, where the choices they make affect the rest of their lives. There's a need for high school students on the Gila River Reservation to be supported in all areas of their lives, setting them up for success whether they choose to stay on the reservation, go to college, or obtain a job off reservation.

St. Peter's is currently the only high school on the reservation. Since the 2023 school year, a grade has been added each year, until there will be a full high school by 2027. In the midst of building out a robust high school that incorporates academic courses and trade programs, there is a need to build out extracurricular activities for the students, one of them being a sports program to provide students with leadership skills, responsibility, healthy lifestyle choices, healthy coping skills and more.

Before St. Peter High School, students attended schools off reservation, most of them dropping out because of bullying and being at schools that didn't take their culture into account. Over 60% of adults living on the Gila River Indian Reservation have not completed high school. Now that there is a high school on the reservation, it's essential to build out all the programs in order to give students a high school experience that will set them up for a hopeful future.

A sports program that promotes fitness for life is essential on a reservation where obesity and diabetes are struggles of the people. According to Jovana Brown in, When Our Water Returns: Gila River Indian Community and Diabetes, "American Indian youths have the highest prevalence of Type 2 diabetes. In the 15-19 age group the current figures are: 4.5 per 1000 for all U.S. American Indian populations. 50.9 per 1000 for Pima Indians."

From the national library of medicine: in 2010, the Centers for Disease Control reported a positive correlation between students who participated in high levels of physical activity and improved academic achievement, decreased risk of heart disease and diabetes, improved weight control, and less psychological dysfunction. Conversely, children who are obese often experience a diminished quality of life, learning difficulties, and decreased self-confidence.

St. Peter's strives to equip students so they can continue healthy lifestyles after graduating and pass on health to their children and families. Sports would provide students with that fitness education, and would set them up for success in this area, providing them with skills to combat diabetes and other health-related issues.

Diabetes isn't the main struggle of the youth on the reservation. Most students come from non-nuclear families where addiction is prevalent. Gang violence and suicide are also common struggles that students face. The Sisters and Friars who work at the school have found that nearly all of the students have endured some amount of trauma in their lives.

Principal of the grade school, Sr. Martha Mary Carpenter talked about these struggles in a presentation she gave at a fundraiser in 2023. She explained that during the height of COVID, there were 72 funerals held at St. Peter Indian Mission, in one week there were 5 funerals alone. Of those 72 funerals, 9 were COVID-related deaths, and the rest were due to gang violence, suicide, serosis and other addictive behaviors. Of the 72 funerals, 27 were former students of St. Peter's, and the youngest was 24 years old. With sorrow in her voice, Sr. Martha talked about her youngest former student who passed away during this time, "I could just see him sitting in his desk."

At. St. Peter Indian Mission, the Sisters and Friars are on a mission to meet students in their suffering and introduce them to Jesus who wants to be with them in their suffering. High school student, Mariya, has felt the loving community surrounding her during difficult times, "Here it feels like I'm part of a family, people actually care about the students here. Me, losing my mother, that was the teachers I had for support."

Sports programs would be another avenue for students to heal from these traumatic experiences and give hope to students who oftentimes feel hopeless. Studies show that sports programs help students cope with difficult situations and have resilience to handle difficult situations in the future. The presidents council on sports found that participating in sports is associated with lower rates of anxiety and depression, higher self-esteem and confidence, reduced risk of suicide, and less substance abuse and fewer risky behaviors.

Right now, St. Peter's cannot afford a sports program because certified drivers are being paid overtime to do the morning and afternoon bus rounds each week. Part of the building of the high school will include the building of a school gym which will be the first step in creating a sport's program for students.

The sports program will take more fruition if three mini buses were purchased. Three more mini buses, in addition to the three that St. Peter's already owns, would allow for some of the evening maintenance staff to drive students home after practice. This would save money since St. Peter's would no longer be paying certified drivers overtime hours.

The cost of the program itself would be covered by the money that would be saved. Mini buses cost $75,000 each. St. Peter's is asking for $250,000 to cover the cost of 3 mini buses as well as have extra funds to get the program off the ground.

The population who will benefit:

Sr. Martha Mary, principal of the grade school explained who is impacted by St. Peter's in an interview with CBS in 2016, "We don't teach subjects. We teach children."

The Sisters and Friars who run the school are dedicated to educating the students. In particular, the high school students on the Gila River Reservation will benefit from the sports program, who are in need of support during this pivotal time in their lives. In the midst of this pivotal time, most students at St. Peter's are living in unstable living situations.

Only 24.1% of households on Gila River are occupied by a married couple while 23.1% are male households and 45.3% are female households. Growing up without a mother and father greatly affects the students at St. Peter's, adding to their lack of stability and security. Students find a sense of family at St. Peter's that is oftentimes lacking in their home lives. The school gives them a sense of family and home, which they will find even further on sports teams.

Students find a fatherly love in the Friars and motherly love in the Sisters, who genuinely care for their wellbeing. It's providing that loving environment at St. Peter's that helps students to thrive. At St. Peter's, the students are steeped in a loving environment that they can depend on, day after day, and when the days get rough, it's the Sisters and Friars who are there to support them and be with them in deep moments of suffering.

There are stories after stories of students, alumni, guardians, and community members who found a home at St. Peter's.

One story is Mariya. She comes from a long line of family members who have attended St. Peter's. She has attended the school since kindergarten and is part of the first high school class, who are now sophomores. She has eight siblings and helps to take care of her four younger siblings with her grandparents. Growing up, she didn't believe in God. But after being steeped in scripture and learning about God from attending St. Peter's, she now has a strong faith and says that the faith hasn't just impacted her, it's impacted her whole family. "If we didn't have God in the home, I probably wouldn't be where I am today," Mariya said.

Unfortunately, Mariya is similar to many of her classmates who don't grow up in a nuclear household. Her dad hasn't been in the picture for years and her mom passed away during her freshman year. During that tumultuous time, she expressed that it was the Sisters and Friars who she had for support that got her through. "Sometimes it gets too overwhelming for me to handle, as it does for everybody. You can only hold so much stress and then eventually pop. I've experienced that. [The Sisters and Friars] were a good support system for me. I was able to tell them…what I was going through and what I needed to get off my chest and they were always there to help me. I would tell them about my family and sometimes I would be like, I don't know what to do, I don't know who to turn to anymore. And they were always there for me to turn to. I've told my siblings too, 'If you need anything go to the Sisters, go to the Friars. They've helped me through a lot and I'm sure they'll be able to help you too.' Without the school, without church, without my grandparents, let's just say I'd be at a low place. I wouldn't be able to do what I'm doing now."

Mariya is just one example of the impact of St. Peter's. There is a hope for that impact to expand so that students will have a firm grasp on their health and wellness through the participation of the sports program, while also being another avenue of support during difficult times, helping students to cope with traumatic situations in their lives.

Students need this stability, consistency and love in their tumultuous high school years, which is often a pivotal time for students. It's for these reasons, among many other reasons, why the students of the Gila River Reservation are the target of this project.

Which priority area the proposal falls under:
This proposal for a sports program falls under the priority of education. The program would be a hands-on approach to educating students on healthy lifestyle choices and healthy coping mechanisms, setting them on a path for a hopeful future.

County agreement:
If funds are granted, an agreement will be made with Pinal County. St. Peter Indian Mission School is in the process of working with Pinal County to secure approval.

Conclusion:
High school is a pivotal time for students, a time that can result in a sense of hopelessness for students that could lead to a life-threatening situation, or a time that can result in a sense of hope, where students are rooted in their culture and have a sense of purpose upon graduation. Providing a sports program at St. Peter's would help students find that sense of hope: not only giving them skills to make healthy choices in their lives, but giving them an outlet for trauma they have endured, providing them with healthy coping skills for their future.

Thank you in advance for your consideration. St. Peter's greatly appreciates this opportunity!
